Report of the Senior Warden

Glory to Jesus Christ!

My name is Georgianne Mathews, and I am the current Senior Warden at Christ the Savior. When I began my term just two years ago, an introduction would have been unnecessary as most everyone knew everyone else, and when someone new joined our parish family, it was pretty easy to sit down and chat and then reinforce the acquaintance during subsequent church gatherings. But God is doing a wonderful thing here, and our parish community is growing in leaps and bounds. Now, I look around and am amazed to realize that there are many of you I don't even know, and having those cozy get-acquainted chats is now a little more challenging. I'm glad to have this opportunity to welcome you to Christ the Savior, and I look forward to getting to know you better.

Whether you're new to CTS or have been around for awhile, I encourage you to get more involved and to share your skills and talents. I know that God has a use for them here! Although we are growing, we're still a small parish and greatly rely on many helping hands to make the practical aspects of our parish life run smoothly. There are volunteer opportunities that require only a modest commitment of time and effort. So, please grab me or anyone on the Parish Council to learn more about how you can get more plugged in.

Lastly, thanks so much to all of you for your prayers and love for Christ the Savior!

In Christ,

Georgianne Mathews
